

Ms. Helda Mite is graduated from the Faculty of Natural Sciences and Informatics in 2005. She has a long experience in the field of technological infrastructure, systems for the implementation of innovative methods for data collection and monitoring, quality management and metadata, as well as the application of different methodologies for the development of statistical activities.

Since 2005, she has held various positions at the Institute of Statistics, engaged at various levels, initially as a Specialist in the Computer Software Development Sector, then as Head of this sector, to continue further in the position of Director of Directorate of Information Technology.

Mrs. Mite has contributed as an author or co-author in important studies in the fields of statistics and economics and is a member of the editorial board of the Scientific Journal RESEARCH and the Informative Journal INFOSTAT.

From April 2019, he holds the position of Director of the General Directorate of Information Technology and Data Collection.