

Ms. Alma Kondi is graduated from the Faculty of Economy in 2007 for Informatics applied in Business, while in 2014 she successfully completed the Master of Business Administration in the same Faculty.

Since 2009, she has held various positions at the Institute of Statistics, engaged at various levels, initially as a Specialist in the Methodology Sector, then as Head of Methodology for Social Survey, to continue further in the position of Head of the Quality and Metadata Sector.

Ms. Kondi has a long experience in the field of quality management and metadata, technological infrastructure, systems for the implementation of innovative methods for data collection and monitoring, as well as the application of different methodologies for the development of statistical activities.

Ms. Alma Kondi has contributed as an author or co-author in important studies in the fields of statistics and economics and is a member of the editorial board of the Scientific Journal RESEARCH and the Informative Journal INFOSTAT.

From June 2019, she holds the position of Director of the Information Technology in the General Directorate of Information Technology and Data Collection.